UM OFFERS FELLOWSHIPS FOR TAFT SEMINAR FOR TEACHERS

MISSOULA --

Elementary and high school educators interested in learning more about American government and electoral politics can attend the Taft Seminar for Teachers July 1-12 at The University of Montana.

The application deadline is April 5.

This is the fifth consecutive year UM has received a grant from the New York-based Robert A. Taft Institute of Government to sponsor the seminar. Participants will earn four graduate credits in political science.

Thirty Montana teachers, librarians and administrators will receive fellowships covering seminar tuition, housing, meals and texts.

The UM program is one of 33 Taft Seminars to be held nationwide this year. Seminar instructors will include elected officials, political professionals and university professors, says seminar director Jim Lopach, a UM political science professor.

For application forms and more information, contact the Department of Political Science, The University of Montana, Missoula, MT 59812; 243-5202.
